

Practices

SEC Investigations and Enforcement Actions

We handle matters involving complicated securities law, accounting and FCPA fact patterns. Over and over again, we have achieved favorable results for our clients.

White Collar Criminal Defense

We are well known for helping clients navigate difficult terrain, where the hazards can be many. Most white collar criminal defense matters do not involve indictment and trial, at least if the right strategic decisions are made early on. Where there has to be a trial, though, we know how to win.

International Matters

We have established relationships with skilled practitioners in the UK and elsewhere, and with them often deal with investigations that are international in scope.

Complex Commercial Litigation

We handle complex commercial litigation matters. Our trial experience informs everything that we do and enables us to work efficiently and effectively to achieve favorable outcomes for our clients consistent with their goals.

Internal Investigations

We conduct internal investigations, in support of the work of board committees and for companies. Recent investigations have included allegations of accounting irregularities and other sensitive matters.
